

December 3, 2019 (Updated)

MISSING TAG OR ERROR TAG BRASS SCRAP RETURN POLICY
(Effective March 01, 2016)

Wieland Chase, LLC continues to monitor and keep tight controls on incoming scrap metals to assure our customers the highest quality and consistency of brass rod produced in the industry. This requires us to thoroughly inspect all incoming brass scrap returned to us by our customers. Scrap returned to us with missing or with improper identification can lead to incorrect mixing of alloys leading to high losses of revenue to the company. As such, we have developed this policy to assure all incoming scrap is accepted in proper and usable fashion.

Requirements and Fees

All scrap returned in boxes/barrels/containers, must be clearly marked with the Customer Name, PO (SCR Order) Number, Alloy, Scrap Type (solids, chips, etc.), Gross Weight, Tare Weight and Net Weight.

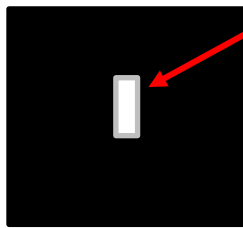

Incoming Scrap Resources to Include: Specifications for Incoming Scrap, Scrap Policy, Scrap Packing List, Lead-Free Eco Brass Scrap Tags, Leaded, and Low Leaded Scrap Tags can be obtained in printable form from our website at <https://wieland-chase.com/scrap-recycling/> and a copy of this policy can also be found on the Wieland Chase website at <https://wieland-chase.com/resources-literature/>

Tags must be firmly attached to each container with this information (See Container Labeling Instructions Below).

Boxes/barrels/containers missing tags or tags with incorrect information will be subject to a minimum $50.00 administration fee to the customer for each incident. Material found to be unusable will be processed according to the specifications listed in our general Scrap Return Policy.

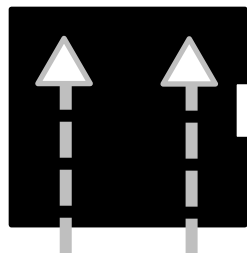

Individual Container Labelling (containers viewed from top, looking down)

Individual Container

Tag placed on top of material. Cover tag with portion of material to prevent movement

Palletized Containers

Fork truck forks

Tag attached on right side of container (multi barrel or box) perpendicular to the side of fork entry. Secure to strap or to side of one container

Please contact Customer Account Specialist or Regional Sales Manager for additional information or clarification.

Best regards,

Dave Streich, National Sales Manager

